Description
Provide a short description of the event and its activities.
On the second day of the project meeting, the participants ventured to Kolovraty, where they enjoyed a four-course lunch featuring Czech cuisine from a local restaurant. At the municipal office, they engaged in discussions about their experiences, findings, and potential for future cooperation. The day concluded with a lively public happening in Kolovraty, showcasing live music and food stalls offering Czech festival dishes and international street food, symbolizing cultural integration and diversity, particularly among Vietnamese, Indian, and Turkish communities.

The target group of this event is represented by the representatives of partner municipalities (traveling delegations), policymakers and citizens of Prague-Kolovraty including foreigners/people with different cultural backgrounds and third-country nationals. They all participated in the event, tasting food from different cultures, deepening their knowledge about the social potential of food and finally enjoying a food festival all together.

All the consumed food has been locally catered and cooked, both the Czech lunch and the street food during the festival. In both venues each dish has been presented either by the cookers or by explanatory notes, in order to make all the information on local and foreign food traditions available. Moreover, volunteers from Prague-Kolovraty accompanied project partners during this experience, favouring their participation and understanding.

The fulfilled objectives of this action include:

- The organization of a local, inclusive and culturally sensitive event in Prague-Kolovraty, promoting food as an element to build social cohesion, combat discrimination, and advocate for intercultural acceptance.
- The use of Czech gastronomy to promote inclusion of all individuals into social activities.
- The engagement of all target groups in a food-oriented event with the purpose of raising their awareness and also provide a convivial time together enjoying food from CZ and from different cultures.

A private session was also held with project partners, to discuss about the achieved results of this event and to focus on further means of cooperation and future shared possibilities. This meeting (tour de table) focused on the best practices showed by Prague-Kolovraty in managing such big public events including different cultures for the promotion of local territories. Data have been collected by the Czech partner to allow a more precise assessment of project results. Future options of cooperation and ideas on how to expand the TFC project have also been discussed by project partners, setting the base for further work together as a cohesive partnership.
